Ber. Peace, for I will not haue to doe with you.
Ros. Nor shall not, if I doe as I intend.
Ber. Speake for your selues, my wit is at an end.
King. Teach vs sweet Madame, for our rude transgression, some faire excuse.
Qu. The fairest is confession.
Were you not here but euen now disguis'd?
Kin. Madam, I was.
Qu. And were you well aduis'd?
Kin. I was faire Madam.
Qu. When you then were heere,
What did you whisper in your Ladies eare?
King. That more then all the world I did respect her.
Qu. When she shall challenge this you will reiect her.
King. Vpon mine Honour no.
Qu. Peace, peace, forbeare:
Your oath once broke, you force not to forsweare.
King. Despise me when I breake this oath of mine.
Qu. I will and therefore keepe it Rosaline,
What did the Russian whisper in your eare?
Ros. Madam, he swore that he did hold me deare
As precious eye-sight, and did value me
Aboue this world: adding thereto moreouer,
That he would wed me, or else die my Louer.
Qu. God giue thee ioy of him: the Noble Lord
Most honourably doth vphold his word.
Kin. What meane you Madame?
By my life, my troth,
I neuer swore this Ladie such an oth.
Ros. By heauen you did; and to confirme it plaine you gaue me this: But take it sir againe.
King. My faith and this, the Princesse I did giue,
I knew her by this Iewell on her sleeue.
Qu. Pardon me sir, this Iewell did she weare,
And Lord Berowne (I thanke him) is my deare.
What? Will you haue me, or your Pearle againe?
Ber. Neither of either I remit both twaine.
I see the tricke on't: Heere was a consent,
Knowing aforehand of our merriment,

To dash it like a Christmas Comed
Some carry-tale, some please-man,
Some mumble-newes, some trench
That smiles his cheeke in yeeres, a
To make my Ladie laugh, when sh
Told our intents before: which on
The Ladies did change Fauours, a
Following the signes, woo'd but t
Now to our periurie, to adde mor
We are againe forsworne in will a
Much vpon this tis: and might n
Forestall our sport, to make vs th
Doe you not know my Ladies foo
And laugh vpon the apple of he
And stand betweene her backe si
Holding a trencher, iesting mer
You put our Page out: go, you a
Die when you will, a smocke shal
You leere vpon me, doe you? the
Wounds like a leaden sword.
Boy. Full merrily hath this bene run.
Ber. Loe, he is tilting straigh

Enter Clo

Welcome pure wit, thou part'st
Clo. O Lord sir, they would
Whether the three Worthies sha
Ber. What, are there but thre
Clo. No sir, but it is vara fine
For euerie one pursents three.
Ber. And three times thrice i
Clo. Not so sir, vnder correct
You cannot beg vs sir, I can ass
know: I hope sir three times th
Ber. Is not nine.
Clow. Vnder correction sir, amount.
Ber. By Ioue, I alwayes too

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Love's Labour's Lost (STC 22295) LONDON, 1631 NATIONAL LIBRARY OF SCO